Description

The charm for this necklace has been created from wood from my own garden. It has been crafted into shape and then a Native American broken arrow design has been burned onto the surface using a pyrography machine. This broken arrow design symbolises Peace.

The edge of the wooden charm has the original tree bark. The surface of the charm has been finished with a layer of beeswax to give it protection and a light shine.

The necklace cord extends to a maximum of 38cm.
